FOREWORD

It is not given for many persons to live to see 100 years; fewer still "survive to 105" in the words of the song. Yet on August 17, 1892 there passed away on his Ohio homestead, a man who had drawn his first breath on a Vermont farm, nearly 106 years before!

The descendants of this centenarian, Martin Kellogg, have been holding annual reunions since 1920. The first historian, Miranda (Mrs. Kinsley Bird) Kellogg, prepared several papers on the ancestry of the family. Mrs. Fred (Nellie Kellogg) H. Sheff drew the first family-tree showing the limbs and branches of the descendants.

The above items aroused the author's interest in the history of the family, and led to the collection of much additional data both on the ancestry, and the descendants of Martin and Polly (Fay) Kellogg, pioneer settlers of the Firelands.

The present booklet contains the names of 505 descendants, but it is far from complete. And many errors are bound to creep in. The author apologizes for these shortcomings, and hopes that readers will send in corrections and additions, especially missing names, dates and places, so that a supplement can be prepared.

My sincere thanks go to all those who kindly answered my requests for information, and to my daughter, Linda, who largely prepared the index of descendants.

ANCESTRY OF MARTIN KELLOGG

The Kellogg family emigrated from England to New England about 1650 when three brothers settled at Hadley and Hatfield, Mass., and Norwalk, Conn., respectively. It is possible that Martin Kellogg was a descendant of one of these original Kellogg emigrants, but diligent research has failed to this time (1954) to show any relationship.

JOSEPH KELLOGG, SR.

Earliest record in the ancestry of our Martin Kellogg is the intentions of marriage published in Springfield, Mass., on Jan. 21, 1715/6 for Joseph Kellogg and Hannah Morgan. She was the daughter of Nathaniel and Hannah (Bliss) Morgan, and granddau. of Miles Morgan, a founder of Springfield, Mass.

Of this first Joseph Kellogg (great-grandfather of Martin) we know little. His parentage, birth-place, birth-date, occupation, residence, and place and date of death are all unknown despite thorough study of all known records and source-materials.

He apparently married in 1715/6 (1715 by their calendar at that time, 1716 by our present calendar), and on March 27, 1718, the birth of Joseph, son of Joseph and Hannah Kellogg is recorded. But on October 31, 1736 she is called "Ye Widow Kellogg" when her daughter, Martha, joined the First Congregational Church, Springfield. Widow Hannah Kellogg died at Springfield, Mass., April 24, 1738.

JOSEPH KELLOGG, JR.

Joseph Kellogg, Jr. (grandfather of Martin), was born at Springfield, Mass., Mar. 27, 1718; and died there Sept. 4, 1776. He married (int. pub. at Springfield, May 12, 1744), Martha Terry, daughter of Thomas and Martha (Miller) Terry, and granddau. of Thomas and Mary (Cooley) Terry. He resided at Springfield, where all the children were born.

MARTIN KELLOGG, SR.

Martin Kellogg (father of Martin, "The Centenarian"), born at Springfield, Mass., Nov. 2, 1757, died at the home of his son in Bronson, Huron Co. Ohio, Mar. 4, 1850. In 1877 our Martin wrote this concerning his father:

"When nearly 18 years of age (immediately after the battle of Bunker Hill) he enlisted in the Revolutionary army for one year and a half, (Capt. John Granger's co., Col. Ebenezer Learned's regt.) and went to Boston." (Co. return of Oct. 7, 1775).

"When his time expired, he returned to Springfield and immediately enlisted again for three years. When his time was out he returned to Springfield. In the spring of 1779 he came to Bethel (Vt.) and worked three summers, '79, '80, and '81 for Col. Joel Marsh (founder of Bethel, Vt.). Returned to Springfield, and married Lucy Dunham and came back to Bethel in the spring of 1782..." (1783=DCK)

He married, first, Brimfield, Mass., Mar. 20, 1783 (Church record), Lucy Dunham, b. 1763, bapt. Jan. 15, 1764, daughter of Thomas and Sarah (Brooks) Dunham. The Dunhams came from Brimfield, Mass., and were early settlers at Bethel Vt., bought land Oct. 3, 1791. Thomas Dunham had been a soldier during the French and Indian War, being stationed for some time at Ticonderoga, where the English had a fort and garrison.

Lucy (Dunham) Kellogg died in Bethel, Vt., in Sept. 1811; he md. 2nd, "in 1812 Miss Betsey Patterson of Barre (Vt.) and a few years subsequently moved to Barre where she died; for a third wife married Mrs. Elizabeth Currier a sister of Judge Benjamin Clapp of Barnard (Vt.); after the death of his third wife in Barre, he came to Ohio in the spring of 1835 and lived with me..." (from a letter written to the Vermont Historical Magazine by Martin Kellogg, the centenarian).

The Kellogg farm in Bethel, Vt., consisted of 110 acres adjoining the southwest side of the village and 70 acres further away, much of which was timbered and hillside. The principal crops were: beans, peas, corn, potatoes, and flax, there were some horses, cattle, sheep, and hogs. The house was owned and occupied in 1919 by Mr. W. L. Parsons.

"The first Methodist sermon preached in Bethel was preached in my father's house by Mr. John Langdon of Vershire, Orange Co., Vt. Methodism made but a small impression in Bethel, only a small class was formed, my father a leader." (From one of a series of articles written by Martin Kellogg for the Herald and News of West Randolph, Vt. in 1877 and 1878, and kept by him in a Scrapbook now in the possession of the author.)

"...the first class organized on the Old Barnard Circuit was formed in Bethel village at the home of Martin Kellogg, Sr..." (From MSS by Rev. William N. Newton in NEHGSoc. Library at Boston).

"My father, although a farmer, had the trade of a clothier (learned in Springfield), but never set up the business, but often went in the fall to shear and press when the work was driving. He was a first-rate workman at shearing; wish I could describe the shears; were very heavy, of English make, and used by hand." (From Scrapbook - page 5)

Lucy Dunham, the first wife of Martin Kellogg Sr., and the mother of all his eleven children was descended from the Pilgrim John Dunham who came to Plymouth, Mass., on the second Mayflower in 1629. John married in Leyden, Holland, Oct. 15, 1622, Abigail, daughter of Thomas Bailliou, a Huguenot. Their son Joseph Dunham married (2nd) Aug. 20, 1669 Hester, daughter of Joseph Wormall. The line runs through their son Micajah Dunham, Sr. (married Elizabeth Lasell) and Micajah Dunham, Jr. (married Brookfield, Mass., 1735, Mary Davis) to Thomas of Brimfield, father of Lucy.

Lucy (Dunham) wife of Sarah Brooks, mother of Martin Kellogg, Sr., was descended from William Brooks who married Mary, daughter of Henry Burt, a founder of Springfield. Their son Benjamin Brooks almost certainly married Mary, daughter of Richard Barnard. Their son John Brooks was born Springfield, Mass., Mar. 21, 1702/3; died at Wilbraham, Mass., Oct. 11, 1745; married Oct. 4, 1722, Rebecca, daughter of Thomas and Mary (Cooley) Terry. Sarah was one of the three daughters of John Brooks, deceased, who were baptized and joined the Springfield First Church, Jan. 5, 1755, as adults. (First Church Records)

Sarah (Brooks) Dunham died in Bethel, Vt., aged 87, c1822; and Thomas Dunham died there Oct. 9, 1797. (From Notebook of Martin Kellogg)

All the children of Martin Kellogg, Sr. were born in Bethel, Vt.

LIFE OF MARTIN KELLOGG

Martin Kellogg, "The Centenarian", was born on his father's farm in Bethel, Vt., on Thurs., Sept. 21, 1786. He was the eldest of seven children in the family who grew to maturity. Much of the following story of his life will be taken from his own writings: Letters, Notebook, and Scrapbook.

LIFE IN VERMONT

"Among my first recollections of going to school, Mrs. Amanda Sally Chaplin was teacher. The school was in the upper story of a malt-house built by John Terry; after this, Mrs. Chaplin and Miss Polly Smith taught school in an old house left vacant, but a few steps from the brick house occupied by Mr. W. R. Adams."

"Some years later Mr. Ezra Benjamin taught school two winters in the village in a dwelling house; the first winter, Mr. Zachary Dean occupied the north room, and the school the south room; the next winter, Mr. Daniel Ainsworth and family occupied the north room; one of these schools was the winter of 1799."

"A winter or two after this Capt. Sanborn taught school in the north room of the dwelling of Captain Simeon Brooks, and one winter in the school which had been built in our district. My last going to school, as a pupil, was in the winter of 1804-5, to Mr. John Huntington Chaplin, son of William and Amanda Sally Chaplin. He was a student in the University of Vermont at Burlington."

"Previous to this, I had taught one summer school in Bethel on Christian Hill, so called, and one winter school in Stockbridge."

During the decade, 1805--1815, Martin Kellogg led a busy life, teaching school in the winters in Royalton, Chelsea and Barnard, and tending carding machines in the summers in the same towns.

After he married Polly Fay on Dec. 7, 1809 he continued to teach during the winters, and for one summer worked on the farm of his father, another on the farm of his father-in-law, Aaron Fay who lived on Mt. Hunger (now called Mt. Pleasant) in Barnard.

TRIP TO THE WEST

Dr. Lyman Fay and John Fay, brothers of Polly, came west during the winter of 1814-5. The Doctor's letters with glowing descriptions of the soil, forests and climate of Ohio aroused the interest of the Fay and Kellogg families back in Vermont.

"On the 17th day of June 1815, myself, wife and three daughters, (Mandane, Lucy, and Rebecca) and Aaron Fay, his wife, his sons Lucius and Apollos, daughter Clarissa, Mehitabel (Bigelow) wife of John Fay, and her brother Eliphas, left Bethel for Ohio... We traveled with three two-horse wagons; and as the roads west of Buffalo were said to be very bad, we put most of our loading onto an open top boat. Apollos and Clarissa Fay, Mehitabel and Eliphas Bigelow, went on this boat with our goods, and came up to the mouth of Huron river by water. They were nearly as long coming, as we were coming by land with our teams!"

On July 30th after a journey of 43 days, they arrived at Fort Avery, an old block-house which stood north of Milan on the east bank of the Huron River. The fort was only a few rods from the house of Ebenezer Merry where Dr. Lyman Fay was boarding.

Martin Kellogg and his family soon moved into

FOUR GRANDCHILDREN OF MARTIN KELLOGG

Lafayette L. Kellogg (#39)

Rose F. (Kellogg) Brooks (#46)

Ida I. (Thomas) McCreary (#31)

The fifth grandchild, then living in California, was:

William A. Kellogg (#35)

into a log house on the Underhill farm near Norwalk where they lived until Feb. 1816 when they moved into an empty cabin on the southwest corner lot of Norwalk Township. After helping to survey Section 3 of Bronson Township, Martin Kellogg chose Lot 8 of 205 3/4 acres and purchased it for $3.00 per acre.

The log house he built was 20X20 in size, and stood between the present house and the road; the family moved into it on June 17, 1816, one year after leaving Vermont. Several years later a 20 X 28 log addition was added. The frame house now standing was built about 1835.

Here Martin and Polly Kellogg raised their 11 children (a 12th died in infancy), and here Polly (Fay) Kellogg died on April 1, 1866 having lived on the homestead for nearly fifty years. Although she was over 78 years of age, Martin survived her by 26 years!

On Sept. 21, 1886, Martin Kellogg's 100th Anniversary, a great celebration was held at Bronson. Special carriages carried the crowds from Norwalk to the homestead. The Norwalk Band furnished music for the 1500 people who attended. Sponsor of this event was the Firelands Historical Society, which had voted the centenarian an honorary life membership in 1883. A group of Norwalk citizens presented him with an easy chair, and he also received as a memento of the occasion, a gold-headed cane.

A photographer took a group picture of Martin Kellogg surrounded by his descendants and their families, and another group of pioneers and early settlers of the Firelands (Huron and Erie Counties) and their families.

On Wednesday, Aug. 17, 1892 at about 5:00 P.M. Martin Kellogg passed away at "Ye Olde Homestead".
